Response to Concerns About Elder Benefits

Elders Council

Some misinformation has been circulating about the role of the Elder Council in the tribe’s new budget, passed November 23, 2015. We provide this information to set the record straight.

When the Elder Council heard that the TGB was going to start working on the FY 2015-2016 budget, we requested a copy. The draft budget listed a total of $463,127 for elder benefits, but a reduction in funds available for auto and home repair from last year. The Elder Council was aware of the need for assistance to elders who needed to purchase wood for their furnaces and a shortfall of $10,000 needed by the Elder Center. However, because there was a deficit of $1 million in the draft budget, it was clear that significant cuts had to be made for the tribe to have a balanced budget.

The Elder Council prepared a chart which laid out several options for the TGB to discuss that totaled $463,127. These options added $6,000 for firewood, $10,000 for the Elder Center, restored vehicle and home repair to the amount allocated last year and reduced the Christmas gift line item by 26% to $294,824. No change was proposed for the birthday gifts. This was presented to the TGB, along with other options. When the TGB went into final deliberation for the budget, the meeting was closed so there were no Elder Council members present. The Elder Council was not a part of the discussion to reduce the Christmas gift to elders living outside of Sawyer County nor the elimination of the birthday gift. When we were later told about the elder benefit budget, we were not in complete agreement but we understood that the tribe is facing financial constraints and that cuts would be made in several areas. The total amount allocated to elder benefits was reduced to $300,350, a reduction of $162,777. The amount allocated for car and home repair was restored to last year’s budgeted amount, $6,000 was added for wood purchase assistance and $10,000 was set aside for the Elder Center. Those three items were priorities of the Elder Council but they had to be approved by the TGB; the TGB approved those changes in addition to cuts in other items that we did not request.

While the particulars of this poorly handled issue will fade from our memories, there are two questions left for LCO members to address:

1. The Elder Council consists of seven LCO members over 62 years of age, 43% of whom are veterans. Most of them do not use the internet or Facebook. Unlike younger generations, they prefer to deal with others with whom they agree or do not agree in person.

When attacks were launched against the TGB in regard to reducing the Christmas gift of elders living outside of Sawyer County, the Elder Council was also a target of hate speech, much of it posted on Facebook. Clearly, the council could have handled this situation better, releasing information as soon as they made the decision and taking full responsibility for their actions instead of deflecting criticism to the Elder Council. But those persons who chose to attack the Elder Council on Facebook, a platform that most elders do not use, were disappointing, at best. Do they have so little respect for elders and veterans that they choose not to communicate with us face to face, but only use us as a way to publicly express their dissatisfaction with the governance of the tribe?

2. Members of the Tribal Governing Board were elected by the total membership to serve the best interests of the tribe. If they do a good job, all of us benefit. If they make mistakes, and they will, or if they make decisions that members do not agree with, the public criticism from tribal members often takes the form of personal attack and not about the issue at hand. As members, we have the right to speak out but we also need to remember the responsibilities as given to us by the seven Grandfathers: wisdom, love, respect, bravery, honesty, humility and truth. Are these principles just words, something to make us feel better about ourselves, or are they essential social and moral guidelines that help us lead good lives as Ojibwe?

NEWS FROM THE LAC COURTE OREILLES

ELDERS COUNCIL

Darryl Coons, Chair 715/945-2660
Faith Smith, Secretary 715/634-1599

Saturday, December 5, 2015

The meeting was called to order at 10 am by Chair, Daryl Coons. Members present were Vernon Martin, Marie Kuykendal, Deanne Martin, Lorraine Smith, Dewey Isham and Faith Smith. Newly elected members (not yet seated) were also present: Mona Ingerson, Tom Carley, Christine Isham and Dorothy Sharon (alternate).

Dewey moved to approve the minutes of November 7, 2015, seconded by Marie and passed unanimously.

The swearing-in ceremony for new Elder Council members will be held on Thursday, December 17th at 9 am in the Peter Larson Room. New officers will be chosen during the January meeting.

Reports from TGB Monitors: According to TGB members, a budget for 2015-2016 has been passed but is not in a format that can be shared with the membership. The budget was passed before the Thanksgiving holiday. Rose Gokee and Norma Ross attended the last meeting of the Elder Association and announced that birthday checks for elders would no longer be issued (after Dec 31, 2015) and that the Christmas gift to elders would be reduced to $50 for those elders living out of Sawyer County. These reductions were due to reduced revenue to the tribe.

Gregg Duffek presented a job description for a Spiritual Healer the Health Center proposes to hire. The salary is $12-14/hr. According to the discussion, access to spiritual healing should be accomplished via contract and at the choice of members who seek traditional healing. Special accommodations required by traditional healers, i.e., use of tobacco or cedar, healing times that do not coincide with the hours of the consultation between patient and healer, methods of evaluating effectiveness, etc. do not seem to have been considered carefully. A survey needs to be done to get a better idea of community needs and expectations of traditional healing services.

Dave Fleming reported on the for-profit entities, most of which continue to operate on a deficit. The third gas station, whose losses since it was purchased by the tribe have been significant, is being renovated to serve as a travel center. It is unclear where renovation funds are being secured.

There was a discussion of Toys for Tots, one offered by staff members and the other by a volunteer from Illinois.

The LCO Housing Authority completed an energy audit on some of the new homes recently constructed. Because of construction inadequacy, there was considerable energy loss. Also, solar streetlights were installed. Some are located in areas where trees prevent sunlight from replenishing energy from the sun, so they don't work.

A concern was raised by one of the for profit entities. Entities sometimes hire employees who have stolen money or merchandise at their previous jobs. But there is no notation in their files so that managers may hire someone who is a risk. TGB meetings appear to make increased use of closed meetings. Discussion of personnel infractions is a justifiable reason to close a meeting but other business should be open, including salaries.

Other Elder Council Business

LCO Schools would like to recognize the achievements of one class every month by taking them swimming but were told by the hotel that there would be a charge of $4/person, which students cannot afford. Elder Council members subsequently contacted Dulce Wolf, requesting that students be allowed to swim once a month without the fee. She agreed and set the process in motion!

There was a discussion of the need for increased help to young people who are sexually active or thinking about it. Those who have children too early are often unprepared for the responsibility of parenting. LCO has the youngest rate of teen pregnancy of any tribe in Wisconsin and the highest rate of out of home and community placement. Grandparents are frequently called upon to be primary caregivers.

TGB meetings need to be held in a space that accommodates more observers. The current room is too small. Also, the TGB seems to be spending more time on issues that should be directed to staff and not on the larger issues that would improve the quality of tribal services and tribal life for all our citizens, like constitutional revision and restructuring of tribal operations.

Ogichidaa Memorial. The fabricator and designer will begin the actual construction of the exhibit in early 2016. We have now collected over 500 names of LCO veterans but not all the information (rank, branch of service, years served) has been collected. We asked Brian for permission to dedicate one room to LCO veterans and to host a week-long open house so that we can scan their photos and gather additional information. He referred us to the TGB. The issues were presented and there was agreement.

The Elder Council has yet to receive a response from the TGB about taking over the planning and management of the visitor center. It was first present in August 2014. The presentation will be done one more time to the TGB.

Someone questioned whether the C-Store has secured up-dated surveillance equipment. We will find out.

Mike Isham presented concerns he had about the LCO tribal court and whether the lack of resources results in a violation of the rights of appearing before the judge. The Elder Council agreed to do a little background work, gathering tribal court policies and sitting in as an observer during court proceedings.

Marie moved to adjourn the meeting at 12:20 pm, seconded by Vernon and passed unanimously.

playing lively Christmas tunes! Thanks to all the wonderful staff and volunteers for making it a joyful time for the elders!

We will be closed January 18th for the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday.
Happy new year from all of us at the Elder Center!!

Tribal Only Waiver Up-Date

Faith Smith

While initialing moving at a steady pace, negotiations between the state Department of Health Services and the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) to turn over management authority of these two programs to Wisconsin Tribes, on behalf of tribal citizens, have virtually come to a halt. Part of the problem is CMS's lack of understanding of the political status of tribes as sovereign nations, equal in status to the states.

Rusty and Norma have been a part of planning for the eventual take-over of Medicare and Medicaid services for the past two years; and Mic has taken on the issue at the federal level. These two programs could bring hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of services to tribal elders and persons with severe long term care needs. Further information will be provided when it is available.

Ogichidaa Project Up-Date

Faith Smith

Members of the Elder Council will be at the Visitor Center January 18 through January 22, 10 am to 6 pm. We will have the scanner on-hand to copy any photos available of LCO veterans.

If you have photos of any veterans, please bring them to the Visitor Center (corner of K and B) so they can be copied and, if permission is granted, a part of the Ogichidaa Exhibit. Negatives can also be scanned.

Please join us for coffee and donuts.

Chippewa Federation

Faith Smith

The Chippewa Federation met on December 17th at LCO with attendance from all the Wisconsin Ojibwe tribes. Among issues for discussion were:

- Placement of Native children out of home and community. Tribes who participated in this discussion reported on underlying issues that have contributed to high numbers of tribal children requiring removal from their homes. One tribe reported that 25% of children needing alternative homes are placed off the reservation in non-tribal homes. Some tribes do not have the funds to assist temporary caregivers and must rely on the county. Some tribes are able to license homes receiving children on the reservation but not off.

Particularly problematic is the high use of legal and illegal drugs, especially heroin. Parents who are addicted may not take care of their children, hold a job or pay for household needs. One tribe reported that 100% of situations requiring the removal of children from tribal homes are due to drug abuse and that their social services program is now working with 3rd generation drug abusers.

More resources are needed to effectively work with families and serve the best interests of tribal children. It was agreed that every future meeting of the Federation would include a discussion of this topic.

- Proposed Violation of Native Sacred Remains. A new bill was proposed by Sen. Chris Kapenga (R-Delafield) which would allow property owners to excavate mounds on their land to prove whether or not human remains exist there. The Federation will send a letter in opposition to this bill.

- Staffing of the Federation. There was a discussion of the need for a director of the Federation, someone who would facilitate the gathering of tribes and providing information required by the tribes in their deliberations, among other needs. It was proposed that what may be needed now is a facilitator (similar to the role carried out by Agnes Fleming regarding tribal transportation). It was also proposed that tribal elders be engaged in a meaningful way in this direction. Attorneys at LCO were asked to draft a job description.

The next meeting of the Federation will be February 18th at St. Croix.

CONSTITUTION REVISION

Mona Ingerson

We are still working on the Articles for Territory and Jurisdiction. One would think that those two articles would be a slam dunk. Territory – the area you have; Jurisdiction – the area you govern. It is not so easy. Please come join us. Second Tuesday of the month at 2:00 pm in the TGB conference room.

LCO ELDERS ASSOCIATION MEETING

Mona Ingerson

Our December meeting included preparations for our annual Elders Christmas Party. Volunteers will gather at 9 am on Saturday before the party to make the candy bags. We will be making 200 bags. We will work on making the flyer for the party clearer. It seems people are under the impression that the Elders Christmas Party is for LCO Elders Association only. That is not the case, LCOEA is hosting and the party is for anyone 55 or older.

Mary Wolf was our speaker and announced all the scheduled shopping trips.

Two members of the TGB were present. Rose Gokee, who is also a member of LCOEA and Norma Ross. They made the announcement about the Christmas checks and also about discontinuing the Birthday checks. The change in Christmas checks went from $398,000 to $189,000 and stopping the birthday checks reduced the tribal output by another $78,000. It was said that these cuts plus others are helping to close the deficit gap. There was a long discussion about bonuses. It was suggested they also be cut in half and to tell people in January and not wait until the last minute.

Linda S. won $10 Early Bird and Marie K. won $17 in the 50x50. December birthdays were recognized.

SCAM ALERT!

Elders, if you receive a mailing from enTouch that promises Lifeline service, throw it away. The mailing requests a copy of your ID. Do not send them any information. This is not a legitimate offer!

DID YOU KNOW

Mona ingerson

Did the broccoli you bought the other day go limp and won't work for the veggie tray you planned? Just cut a little off the bottom and stand it in cold water and refrigerate for a few hours. It will become crunchy again. This will also work for celery.

NOTEWORTHY

Mona Ingerson

The Elders Christmas Party

We all had a good time. I saw lots of smiles. Unfortunately I cannot print any of the few pictures that I was able to take – my camera died. I did check before I left home and the camera did not show low battery – it fibbed! The reason that I can't print the pictures is because my computer had a nervous breakdown and the computer doctor gave it a new program that is not compatible with inserting and printing the pictures. Hope for better luck next year.

There were 168 elders signed in plus some vendors and of course, our wonderful Servers. Mary Jack won the TV and Martina Gouge won $98 in the 50x50.

A Comment

I recently heard the comment “there is a cloud over LCO.” When people do things without honor is what keeps that cloud over LCO. There are a number of people in positions of power, not just the TGB. When that power is used to help favorites or exact revenge, that is acting without honor. Those in power should work for the betterment of the whole. Do your part to help lift that cloud.

Make decisions with a calm mind and not with an angry heart. Anger is a liability that shows a lack of discipline.

JOKES & INTERESTING TALES & STORIES

SOMETHING TO PONDER: George Carlin

George Carlin's wife died early in 2008 and George followed her, dying in July 2008. It is ironic George Carlin - comedian of the 70's and 80's - could write something so very eloquent and so very appropriate. An observation by George Carlin:

The paradox of our time in history is that we have taller buildings but shorter tempers, wider Freeways, but narrower viewpoints. We spend more, but have less, we buy more, but enjoy less. We have bigger houses and smaller families, more conveniences, but less time. We have more degrees but less sense, more knowledge, but less judgment, more experts, yet more problems, more medicine, but less wellness.

We drink too much, smoke too much, spend too recklessly, laugh too little, drive too fast, get too angry, stay up too late, get up too tired, read too little, watch TV too much, and pray too seldom.

We have multiplied our possessions, but reduced our values. We talk too much, love too seldom, and hate too often.

We've learned how to make a living, but not a life. We've added years to life not life to years. We've been all the way to the moon and back, but have trouble crossing the street to meet a new neighbor. We conquered outer space but not inner space. We've done larger things, but not better things.

We've cleaned up the air, but polluted the soul. We've conquered the atom, but not our prejudice. We write more, but learn less. We plan more, but accomplish less. We've learned to rush, but not to wait. We build more computers to hold more information, to produce more copies than ever, but we communicate less and less.

These are the times of fast foods and slow digestion, big men and small character, steep profits and shallow relationships. These are the days of two incomes but more divorce, fancier houses, but broken homes. These are days of quick trips, disposable diapers, throwaway morality, one night stands, overweight bodies, and pills that do everything from cheer, to quiet, to kill. It is a time when there is much in the showroom window and nothing in the stockroom. A time when technology can bring this letter to you, and a time when you can choose either to share this insight, or to just hit delete.

Remember to spend some time with your loved ones, because they are not going to be around forever.

Remember, say a kind word to someone who looks up to you in awe, because that little person soon will grow up and leave your side.

Remember, to give a warm hug to the one next to you, because that is the only treasure you can give with your heart and it doesn't cost a cent.

Remember, to say, 'I love you' to your partner and your loved ones, but most of all mean it. A kiss and an embrace will mend hurt when it comes from deep inside of you.

Remember to hold hands and cherish the moment for someday that person will not be there again.

Give time to love, give time to speak! And give time to share the precious thoughts in your mind. And always remember, life is not measured by the number of breaths we take, but by those moments that take our breath away.

The Lesson

Son: Dad, I want to get married. Father: First, tell me you're sorry. Son: For what? Father: Say Sorry.

Son: But for what? What did I do? Father: Just say sorry. Son: WHY???. Father: Say sorry. Son: Please, just tell me why. Father: Say sorry. Son: Ok, Dad...I'm sorry. Father: There! You've finished training. When you learn to say sorry for no reason at all, then you're ready to get married.

<>Working people frequently ask retired people what they do to make their days interesting.

Well, for example, the other day my wife, Gloria and I went into town and visited a shop. We were only in there for about 5 minutes. When we came out, there was a cop writing out a parking ticket.

We went up to him and I said, 'Come on, man, how about giving a senior citizen a break?'

He ignored us and continued writing the ticket. I called him a dumb ass. He glared at me and started writing another ticket for having worn-out tires.

So Gloria called him a shit head. He finished the second ticket and put it on the windshield with the first.

Then he started writing a third ticket. This went on for about 20 minutes.

The more we abused him, the more tickets he wrote.

Just then our bus arrived, and we got on it and went home.

We try to have a little fun each day now that we're retired. It's important at our age.

Happy New Year !

The Darwins are out! Yes, it's that magical time of year when the Darwin Awards are bestowed, honoring the least evolved among us. They usually eliminate themselves from the gene pool.

Here is the glorious WINNER:

1. When his 38 caliber revolver failed to fire at his intended victim during a hold-up in Long Beach, CA would-be robber James Elliot did something that can only inspire wonder. He peered down the barrel and tried the trigger again. This time it worked.

And now, the honorable mentions:

2. The chef at a hotel in Switzerland lost a finger in a meat cutting machine. He submitted a claim to his insurance company. The company, expecting negligence, sent one of its men to have a look for himself. He tried the machine and also lost a finger. The chef's claim was approved.

3. A man shoveled snow for an hour to clear a space for his car during a Chicago blizzard. He returned with his vehicle to find a woman had taken the space. Understandably, he shot her.

4. After stopping for drinks at an illegal bar, a Zimbabwean bus driver found that the 20 mental patients he was supposed to be transporting from Harare to Bulawayo had escaped. Not wanting to admit incompetence, the driver went to a nearby bus stop and offered everyone waiting there a free ride. He then delivered passengers to the mental hospital, telling the staff those patients were very excitable and prone to bizarre fantasies.. The deception wasn't discovered for 3 days.

5. An American teenager was in the hospital recovering from serious head wounds received from an oncoming train. When asked how he received the injuries, the lad told police he was simply trying to see how close he could get his head to a moving train before he was hit.

6. A man walked into a Louisiana Circle-K, put a $20 bill on the counter, and asked for change. When the clerk opened the cash drawer, the man pulled a gun and asked for all the cash in the register, which the clerk promptly provided. The man took the cash and fled, leaving his $20 bill on the counter. The total amount of cash he got from the drawer.. $15. [If someone points a gun at you and gives you money, is a crime committed?]

7. An Arkansas guy wanted some beer pretty badly. He decided to throw a cinder block through a liquor store window, grab some booze, and run. He heaved the block over his head at the window. The cinder block bounced back and hit the would-be thief on the head, knocking him unconscious. The liquor store window was made of Plexiglas. The whole event was caught on videotape...

8. As a female shopper exited a New York convenience store, a man grabbed her purse and ran. The clerk called 911 immediately, and the woman was able to give a detailed description of the snatcher. Within minutes, police apprehended the snatcher. They put him in the car and drove back to the store. The thief was then taken out of the car and told to stand there for a positive ID. To which he replied, "Yes, officer, that's her. That's the lady I stole the purse from."

9. The Ann Arbor News crime column reported that a man walked into a Burger King in Ypsilanti , Michigan at 6 A.M., flashed a gun, and demanded cash. The clerk said he couldn't open the cash register without a food order. So the robber ordered onion rings. The clerk said those weren't available on the breakfast menu. The robber, frustrated, walked away. [*A 5-STAR STUPIDITY AWARD WINNER]

10. A man attempted to siphon gas from a motor home parked on a Seattle street by sucking on a hose. He got more than he bargained for. Police arrived at the scene to find a very sick man curled up next to a motor home near spilled sewage. A police spokesman said the man admitted to trying to steal gas, but he plugged his siphon hose into the sewage tank by mistake. The owner of the vehicle declined to press charges saying it was the best laugh he'd ever had.
